

Can More Be Done to Cut Down Your Health Care Wait Times?

That's a big question.

Waiting too long to have health problems diagnosed is an issue affecting almost everyone in our province. The key to reducing wait times is to ensure we have the right number of doctors providing the right services in the right places.

Your doctors believe your health should always come first. You have told us you feel the same way.

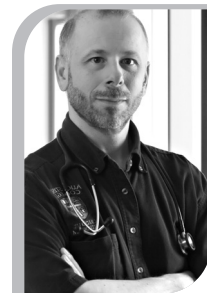

At election time, ask your candidate if health care tops their agenda.
